Producer

The Viniterra winery was founded in 1997 by leading oenologist Adriano Senetiner.

Climate, viticulture, winemaking

---

Situated in the upper Mendoza valley, the vineyards of Luján de Cuyo sit at altitudes of around 1000m, (3280 feet) above sea level. With intense sunlight experienced during the day and cold night temperatures, the wines produced show deep concentration of flavour and structure. The soils are clay/loam.

Grapes are manually harvested at two different degrees of ripeness and individually vinified. After pressing, maceration occurs for 4-6 hours before being fermented in stainless steel tanks at controlled temperatures of 16°C. Aged for 4 months before blending and bottling.

Tasting Notes

Fresh aromas of apple, lemon and white blossom on the nose, a clean, balanced palate with a herbaceous background. Lovely acidity and finish.
