Producer

Formed in 1952, the Cave Vinicole de Hunawihr co-operative currently has 130 members. Situated around the village of Hunawihr, (9km northwest of Colmar) this co-op consists of family-owned winegrowers with a total vineyard coverage of 210 hectares. Anthony Bondon is the lead winemaker.

Climate, viticulture, winemaking

The calcareous soil provides excellent vine-growing conditions. Located in the foothills of the Vosges mountain range, the region is characterised by undulating hillsides and very little rainfall.

The grapes are hand-harvested to ensure the highest of quality of fruit before undergoing a cool fermentation of 28 days. In order to preserve the purity of flavour and nuances of character, the wine does not go through malolactic fermentation. Ageing on fine lees occurs for a minimum of four months prior to bottling.

Tasting Notes

---

Complex aromas of fresh pineapple, grapefruit and apricot alongside a hint of white pepper. Supple and well-balanced with elegant sweetness complementing refreshing acidity. Flavours of stone fruits, citrus and gentle honied characters on a long finish.

Good to know

---

Vegetarian and vegan friendly.
